More Money Needed To Run Coleman School During Present Year

At the regular meeting of the council on Tuesday evening the school board submitted its request for the annual appropriation, but the aldermen laid it on the table for future consideration.

This year the school board is asking for $16,000, exclusive of the Government grant, which latter will amount to slightly over fifteen hundred dollars. Last year the sum of fifteen thousand only was asked, for, and the reason given for the need of the extra thousand this year is that the board has been compelled to open another primary room, necessitating the employment of an additional teacher. Though this room was opened several months ago, no provision was made for it in the estimates last year.

It is thus seen that the sum of about $17,500 is required to finance the school this year, including, of course, the Government grant. This, in other words, amounts to about three-fifths of all the money raised by the municipality for the year. During the year 1914 the largest enrollment during any one month was, slightly under four hundred pupils, so that it apparently costs approximately $44 to finance a pupil for one year in our public school.

Compared with many other schools, where the standard is at least as good as it is here, this cost is excessive; but that is in large measure accounted for by the fact that conditions in Coleman are unique in many respects. Our school population seems to be out of proportion to the number of ratepayers in the community, and the amount of primary work which this school is called upon to handle is little short of unusual.

During the past week or two there has been considerable discussion on the street about the cost of operating the school, and in some instances the school board is coming in for some rather caustic criticism. In this connection, however, it should be borne in mind that the board called a meeting of the ratepayers last December, and announced the date two weeks in advance. The opportunity was thus afforded all who disagreed with the policy of the school board to be present and register their complaint. But only one or two ratepayers took the trouble to walk down to the council chamber when the hour of the meeting arrived. Clearly, therefore, the board had no alternative but to continue along the policy they had been following, and if that policy is now found to be unsatisfactory, the ratepayers have only themselves to blame for it.

The opinion is freely offered that our "high school department" is costing more than it is worth to the community, which may or may not be true. It depends largely on the point of view. One thing is quite clear, however, and that is, that any twenty ratepayers can have a public meeting called at any time by simply petitioning the mayor and requesting him to call it. And The Bulletin is of the opinion that such a meeting, to consider the advisability of doing away with the "high school" department, or effecting some economies there, might be a good thing for all concerned. At least it would serve to clear the air and would put an end to the "subterranean" discussion that seems to be thriving just now.

But in the event of such a meeting, the purpose for which it was convened would certainly be defeated unless a spirit of same reasonableness permeated the gathering. A public meeting could quite properly discuss the financial and general policy of the board, and could perhaps point out ways in which economies could be practiced, but if the discussion should wander into the internal management of the school, then it would be usurping the work of the board. The employment and management of the staff is the business of the board alone.

Government Hands Out Another Five Hundred Dollars

The second cheque for five hundred dollars was received by Mayor Morrison from the Provincial Government on Monday morning, and like its predecessor was indeed most welcome.

During the past few weeks work has been progressing on the new road to West Coleman, and the funds of the Relief Society were naturally getting low. The cheque now to hand, however, ensures another spell of work for the needy ones, and in this way brings good cheer to many Coleman homes.

There can be no doubt of the gratitude of the people of Coleman to the Provincial Government for the assistance that is thus being given, and the hope is generally expressed that at least another cheque will be forthcoming so that the families needing assistance may at least be tide over the winter months, and in order that the much needed road may be completed. Our citizens have been performing their part well but were just about to the end of their tether when the Government's first cheque arrived on the scene, as a sort of "first aid."

HARRY BOLTON has recently received a letter from R. V. Deugau, who is with the first Canadian overseas contingent, in which the latter states that he saw three of the ships that were in the big naval battle on the North Sea, including the Lion and the Tiger. It will be remembered that the Germans claimed to have sunk the latter vessel. R. V. is a brother of H. Deugau, of Coleman. Another brother at Edmonton is also a member of the militia, and in a shooting competition there, in which both brothers competed, the one who is now in Edmonton made six bull's eyes out of ten shots fired in ten seconds, 800 yards.

No Business Tax For Town of Coleman Says Mayor Morrison

There will be NO business tax in Coleman this year.

That is, if Mayor Morrison has his way about it. His Worship is opposed to the idea of a business tax as a matter of principle, in addition to which he holds the opinion that our business men are having troubles enough of their own these times without the municipality adding anything to their burden.

This much. The Bulletin gleaned from the mayor in an interview this week. During the last few months of the regime of the 1914 council there had been one or two references to the possibility of a business tax in Coleman this year, and some have been waiting expectantly for the new council's pronouncement on the matter, though the suggestion has not been before the council this year—officially.

It has further been pointed out that Coleman has several thousand dollars coming to it yet from delinquent tax payers, and if this money was now available a business tax would not be necessary. And this perhaps would apply to a lot of towns in Alberta. In those municipalities where a business tax has been imposed, therefore, it would seem that the business man was being socked an extra tax just because some other ratepayer was not paying any of his taxes at all.

The mayor did not discuss this latter phase of the question very much, but he seems to have considered it from a sufficient number of angles to reach the definite conclusion that the business tax is wrong in principle, and that anything which is wrong in principle could not be very good for the community as a whole.

Au revoir, Business Tax!

The educational value of the great war has been brought to the notice of the people of Ontario. The Ministry of Education has decided that the schools of the province shall devote attention to the causes of hostilities, and reasons why the British empire is taking part. This will be done by directing that the subject in a general way be given to intelligent students, and to all questions not only in the departmental examination, but also in the school promotion examinations.

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only twenty-one years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."—Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 293 Tehipitoula St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and sides, and severe headaches. I had pimplies on my face, my complexion was yellowish, my hair thin, and I had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."—Miss ESTELLA MAGUIRE, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, I let others from girls who have suffered to come to you by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for help. It has proved too much for bonds of discipline to reach all of us.

Bagpipes Cheered Highlanders
A very interesting account of certain fighting near La Bassée has been received from Mr. G. H. D. Macmillan, accompanying the Ailed forces.

"At all costs it was necessary to create a diversion in order to give our men time to cross the sombre fire of fire."

"The general commanding the British forces claimed for his troops the honor of leading the attack. Then with a single cry, 'Forward,' the left wing without a moment's hesitation they plunged into the hall of shell. Without suffering great loss, they appeared nearer and nearer to the great guns. They stopped an instant to fix bayonets, and then they charged to the sound of their beloved bagpipes."

They charged on. Sir Walter Scott's girls with their spangles and dancers' skirts. Neither ditches nor barbed wire stopped these wonderful warriors. Their dash carried them right up to the guns, striking them down the frightened artillery men.

"It was the work of seconds only to remove the broken blocks and thus put the huge field pieces out of action.

"The whole affair lasted only ten minutes."

The Latest Scouting Story
One of the most dangerous duties a scout is called upon to perform in war is that of ascertaining whether a fort or town is held by friend or foe occupied by the enemy's forces. Every scout has his own methods of working, but the first thing each does is generally to attempt to trap the hidden men in the fort or town.

The other day a British scout, who had been a well known man about town, was told off to examine a little fort which was held by the Germans. He went forward and tried all the usual artifices, including the somwhat threadbare one of pretending to gain admittance, but in vain. He was however successful in getting into the fort. He advanced a few paces and, jingling some loose silver in his pocket, roared out:

"Waiter! Get me a taxi!"

"Yes sir! Cert'n'y, sir!" came the reply from some twenty or thirty German soldiers. "For God's sake, have you got too much for bonds of discipline?"

French Thank Canadians

Establishment of Hospital for the Sick and Deeply Afflicted

How George Gravier says some interesting particulars regarding the French hospital which has been established through the liberality of the Canadian government, why for some time back voted a hundred thousand dollars for the purpose. The idea of the Canadian government at first was to have a hospital in Paris for general use, but the French government, however, represented that it would not be convenient to have a hospital in Paris, according to the decision to vote twenty thousand pounds for the establishment wherever suitable for the French authorities. The hospital is now established at Dinsard, and in full operation, under the direction of Dr. Duwekot Barker, receiving the wounded of all branches of the allies daily. Philip Roy, Canadian representative to France, and M. De Cassse, foreign minister, has asked Colonial Secretary Harcourt once again to express the thanks of the French government to the Dominion of Canada for their liberality.

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are troubling it, she can procure the simple and safe Dr. Gravier's Worm Powders, which are guaranteed to totally expel worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this is no cause for anxiety, because it is but a manifested sign of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

Mixed Farming

Farmers Are Becoming More Alive to the Possibilities of Raising Stock

Mixed farming, according to advice received by the Canadian Railways, will be more and more popular, if it is really spelling more dollars, greater success and certainly in the future and fixing the people into the soil in a way that the single crop will never do. The farm must be self-sufficient, the importance of mixed farming, alike for profit and the benefit of the country generally. Men who come to the country must be willing to stay for a year or two, care only for the advance of wheat they could grow.

BREAD OF TULIP BULBS

Acorns, Chestnuts, Peas and Beans Have Also Been Used for Flour

Soon after the pressure of the war began in the continental Europe, it was reported that the people of Holland were using tulip for bread; that is, that they were grinding the bulbs into flour and baking loaves of bread from them. The use of potato flour is well known in Europe, and it forms a part of the diet of the people of Germany. Austria, not only because it is nutritious and well flavored, but because when combined with wheat flour it lends a sort of permanence to the bread. It has been found that it remains stale as soon as it otherwise would.

With the remarkable development of the banana growing industry and the production of cotton in the Americas, this fruit, though a large part of the world has come to propose that the fruit when dried can be ground into flour, of which excellent bread may be made. This is a new process, somewhat more extensive scale than laboratory operations, have been carried out and it has been reported that the results are quite successful.

It has been suggested by investigators of the subject that perhaps the earliest form of bread was prepared from such nuts and acorns, and baked cakes from them. Acorn bread may have been eaten from immemorial times by the American Indians, and are still eaten by some of the remnants of the Indians in the United States. In the ethnological exhibit in the National Museum figures of Indians at work making acorn bread may be seen. It is not the raw acorn that is used, but the acorn which has been dried, when it is to be eaten until it has been long soaked in boiling water, after the tanin has been extracted the meat of the meat is sweet, palatable and delicious.

Beginning at the conclusion of part 2, "White Water"; Alan and Rose make their way by forest trail to Black Beaver, (as will be seen at the Rex Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday) a backwoods settlement; chiefly a general rural store, where they pick up guides and proceed by canoe to Northeast Carry, at the upper end of Moosehead Lake. There they secure a change from woods clothing to civilized garments, and take a steamer down the lake to Kineo Station.

Judith meantime, proceeds by forced marches to cut them off. She arrives at Kineo shortly before they do. The train is crowded. Alan, with difficulty, secures two parlor-car seats. Judith, in masculine costume, travels unnoticed in a crowded accommodation coach. Alan telegraphs from Kineo for sleeping car reservations, a stateroom for Rose, a lower for himself, on the night express through to New York. Judith finds this out.

Arriving at Oakland a boy passes through the coach, where Judith is seated, calling "telegarm for Mr. Law." Judith manages to get hold of the telegram and read it before returning it to the boy. It says that reservations to New York will be impossible to get. Returning the message to the messenger, she also gives him a second envelope.

Alan reads the message and then opening the second envelope, finds it contains a tray of hearts.

Arriving in Portland, Alan and Rose are driven to a hotel. Judith secures the room adjoining that of Rose and picks the lock of the connecting door. With the aid of her confederates she chloroforms Rose and dons her clothing. Alan has proceeded to the water front and engaged a yacht, "Sea Venture," to take Rose and himself to New York.

All Alan's plans are being reported to Judith by her confederates. She engages a fishing boat to intercept the "Sea Venture" on its voyage to New York. Passing herself off as Rose, Judith gets aboard with Alan. She opens the valves of the auxiliary gasoline tanks and allows gasoline to flood the hold. Later, she sights a fishing boat, and upon its approach she covers Barcus, the owner of

Blairmore Enterprise Displays Very Little Of Sporting Courtesy

Diligently Pursuing its Time-worn and Puerile Policy of Knocking Everything That Has to do With Coleman, Our Otherwise Estimable Contemporary is Unable to Suppress its Spirit of Antagonism Long Enough to Give a Fair and Impartial Report of a Hockey Match.

The following is what the Blairmore Enterprise has to say of the Frank-Coleman hockey match which took place here on Monday evening of last week:

"One of the best hockey games of the season was an exhibition played at Coleman on Monday night last between Coleman and Frank teams. Before the game started the Frank boys displayed their good sportsmanship and tested the calibre of the Colonials by giving them the honor of holding the "cup." Frank were the rightful owners, but rather than leave a lasting sore in the hearts of the Colonials they desisted to make this concession. The game which followed was a dandy, and almost right through Frank proved to have superior speed and strength. Before the final certain members of the Coleman team displayed a lack of good humor, but their mean tactics brought no applause from the vast audience of onlookers. The score at the finish was 6 to 4 in Frank's favor."

The allegation that Frank gave Coleman "the honor of holding the cup" is of course a rank fabrication, as every person who had anything to do with hockey in The Pass this winter knows. In the first league series Frank and Coleman tied. Home and home games were arranged to decide the winners; Coleman went to Frank on schedule time and played their game although they were three men short and had to substitute intermediates, and knew pretty well from the

A Very Strong Factor That Must be Reckoned With in the War of the Nations

The spirit of the Serbian people will, after a conspicuous place in the history of the world, give them a banner in which this little people have undertaken the fight against its powerful neighbor in the face of almost unparalleled difficulties is such as to call for admiration with the profoundest admiration.

They were taken at a moment of absolute unreadiness. Within the short space of a few months they had been at war and undertaken a punitive expedition against the Albanian tribesmen. The men were worn out with prolonged service in the bush, and lay unconscious before unclean, uniformed uniforms were tattered, military stores exhausted, finances at an appalling low ebb, and the need for purchase and reconstruction arising from a more comprehensible desire to an urgent national necessity.

Orders for clothing, rifles, cannon, ammunitions, etc., from Russia had supplied varied descriptions, had been placed, but not executed, and it was in the midst of this period of reparation that Serbia delivered her declaration of war.

The men responded to the call with a remarkable enthusiasm. Clothed in the tatters of uniforms that had already served, they took to war with their shoulders to their guns and sat off from the homes they had rejoined but six months previously. The authorities, on their part, collected the material with a frankness and a sense of public conflict. They found themselves with more soldiers than rifles, more cannon than ammunition, adequately to feed them, more uniforms than uniforms, more feet than boots to cover them.

The wastage had been great, and the animals which remained were not improved by the inferior work of the previous year. Serbia was in an enormous degree dependent upon her oxen transport, for railway traction is confined to the European line which traverses the country, and with to south, plus one or two small gauge roads which branch therefrom.

Yes despite all these obstacles, the Serbs, who had been insatiable, insatiable, Serbia again placed her entire manhood under arms and went forth to battle for the liberty of the southern Slavs. The mobilization and concentration were well effected. Here, previous experience and the fact that a concentration in the centre of the country was necessitated by the well hidden intentions of the enemy, greatly facilitated the operations.

The troops were regathered at Palanka, Arangozel and Lazarevac. Large war orders were sent to Austria, and Austrian tactics might necessitate and when the invaders came over the border on the Drina and Sava, the Serbs forces at Kotor, the Serbian army was soon found to force march 100 miles in three days, fall upon their enemies in the Jadar valley and on the Tser mountain.

After three days of their advance the Austrians were back in Bosnia, sadder but distinctly wiser soldiers. So ended the celebrated "punitive expedition" to Austria, and the Serbs army was now bound to forced march 100 miles in three days, fall upon their enemies in the Jadar valley and on the Tser mountain.

After three days of their advance the Austrians were back in Bosnia, sadder but distinctly wiser soldiers. So ended the celebrated "punitive expedition" to Austria, and the Serbs army was now bound to forced march 100 miles in three days, fall upon their enemies in the Jadar valley and on the Tser mountain.

According to the Austrian communication issued in explanation of the defeat, the Serbian army was not to be blamed, but the fault was in the statement; it was instigated that military operations against King Peter's kingdom had reached their satisfaction conclusion, and that the war would be transferred to the Army frontier.

In effect the IV. Army corps, with part of the V. and one division of the IX., were transported to the frontier, while the rest of the staff were, however, under no delusion as to the real state of affairs.

The famous Balkan army had been seriously thinned, and victory of some sort, but a severe Service, became a matter of necessity. Thereupon the divisions which had been defeated in the Yader valley and upon the Tser mountains were brought up to the front, and reinforcements were introduced into new units.

For this purpose the garrisons of Bosnia were reduced to the lowest possible strength and the men sent up to the frontier, but the same armistice was made.

Then began the real offensive against Barovo and an invasion was attempted along the entire Drina front, and from the west of the Drina to as far south as Lubitovo.

In the northern section the Austrians were repulsed with heavy losses, but between Lomitza and Lubitovo they got across the frontier in force.

The Serbs have not sufficient troops to hold the entire line, and they therefore retreated, while the divisions which had been defeated in the Yader valley and upon the Tser mountains were brought up to the front, and reinforcements were introduced into new units.

The operations once accomplished, the Austrians were attacked in turn, and the war was on the spur of mountains which represents the strait if not the actual Austro-Serbian frontier between Lomitza and Lubitovo.

They now hold a small corner of mountainous terrain radiating from Zvorlje and a strip of marshland between the two mountains, the northern corner of Serbia. Subsequent fighting has been confined to their unsuccessful attempts to occupy the strategic position now in the hands of Serbia.

Forbids Singing 'Tipperary'

United States Secretary Calls it a Violation of Neutrality

Commenting on the action of Lieutenant Commander Evans, backed up by Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy, in forbidding the singing of "Tipperary" in the United States Navy, the New York World, the editorial says:

"Secretary Daniels agreed with Lieutenant Commander Evans that it is a violation of neutrality for the men of the navy to sing 'Tipperary' because it was such a delicate and easily dislocated situation that we were asked to take the secretary word for word as to what his civilian judgment is sustained by the expert opinion of a Lieutenant Commander."

"This means, presumably, that the marine band must hereafter cease to give and comfort to the German-Austrian-Turkish alliance by playing 'Tipperary' in the water. We take it that 'America' will pass into the category of forbidden music also, because it is not only the tune of God save the Queen, but also the tune of Der Siegerkrieg, making it a double violation of neutrality.

"We regret also to report that certain naval officers have been found persisting in singing a hymn the music of which is the music of 'Gott erhalte Franz den Kaiser,' as well as of 'Deutschland über alles.' This must stop, and let us pray that it will stop, lest naval chaplains.

"Dedicated as he is to noble deeds, we are sure that Secretary Daniels will take steps to prohibit the singing of both neutral and controllable music in the sea service of the United States, nor can we believe that it will prove a difficult task.

"What would a navy that has Joseph Daniels for a secretary want to sing?"

Canadian Pacific's New Steamship

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces the addition of two splendid new ships to their present Trans-Atlantic Service, and which will again emphasize the rapidly growing trade and travel between Canada and Great Britain.

A distinct compliment has been paid to Western Canada, in the naming of the two new boats the "Melita" and "Minne doss." This is very gratifying to Westerners, and is a further indication that our great western country is more and more, claiming the attention, which is justly due it. The West, as always, has furnished the best of everything, both in peace and war, and we are now reaping the benefit.

The two new steamers are sister ships of the popular one life boats; double bottoms, giving double life as it were, to the ships; wireless telegraphy, and submarine signalling apparatus. The cruiser stern not only imparts a very war-like appearance to these boats, but greatly accentuates the stability and seaworthiness.

Permanent Customers

Success in the tailored-to-measure business for men has foundation in the permanent customer.

This success is possible only when satisfaction is given the customer.

The man who buys a suit one season and is disappointed in any particular, is not likely to go to the same tailor for his next season's suit.

Dissatisfaction is not possible in the House of Hobberlin for the very simple reason that the suit is guaranteed to give satisfaction. If this is not the case it is taken back and money refunded or a new suit made.

This business has assumed its present large proportions as a result of giving satisfaction.

Our permanent customers number thousands all over Canada.
